

Dear SJAM Families –

Our staff and students have been working really hard on an amazing Christmas concert. We were able to have one show last week, and would like to hold a second holiday concert this week.

Unfortunately, we were unable to reschedule an evening booking. We want to give you as much advance notice as possible, and with the weather forecast this week, we are going to host the show on the morning of Friday, December 20th at 9:15. This gives us time on Thursday after school to set up the gym.

We are hoping the morning will be a convenient for families who were not able to make the first show and hope to see you then!
